

Fundraising Trustee

The Griffin Institute at NPIMR is a not-for-profit, charitable research institute with a vision to be a leading translational biomedical research and training organisation. Our mission is to accelerate innovative solutions that both improve and maximise patient benefits. We are aiming to be a world leading training centre and are in the process of repatriating surgical training from Europe to the UK.

This position is a tremendous opportunity to support the work of a transformative health care charity and help change the face of modern medicine in the UK.

In these times the drastic effect of covid-19 on surgical training has led to a huge demand for the training and education that we provide, with additional fundraising support, our future will be very strong.

The specific responsibilities for the Trustee post will include.

- To have Trustee oversight/responsibility for a £500k per annum fundraising appeal and £6m capital appeal as well as grant fundraising for specific research projects.
- Chair a Fundraising Board and be involved in the selection and recruitment of suitable Board members who will bring support and complementary business, community, and social networks with them.
- Prepared to lead by example by approaching warm connections for support and/or making a proportionate donation to the Griffin Institute at an early stage.
- Take a critical look at current fundraising strategy and support the creation of a new and updated fundraising plan.
- Encourage an entrepreneurial fundraising culture.
- Act as an ambassador for the charity
- Contribute knowledge of fundraising tools, techniques, and strategies.
- Support the fundraising team with advice and guidance.

Essential Qualifications required:

- Excellent networking skills, influencing and communication skills.
- Excellent existing peer networks
- Ability to influence peers.
- Someone with sufficient fundraising / income generation knowledge
- Experience of diverse fundraising practices - corporate and philanthropic giving, and trusts and foundations would be valuable.

Essential Qualifications required:

- Knowledge of marketing including digital or social media.
- Knowledge of the scientific/health sector

For an expression of interest please submit your CV and a covering letter to s.maragh@griffininstitute.org.uk

Salary: Pro bono
Closing Date: 23rd April 2021